Note to professors: There are many choices facing a victim after a sexual assault. The diagram above provides basic information regarding these choices. These options do not have to be conducted in any particular order and can happen at any point after a sexual assault. It may be helpful to emphasize to victims that all decisions are the choice of the victim, and they can discuss options with a counselor at the University Counseling Center (UCC) as requested. For further information please do not hesitate to call the UCC at (504) 865-3835.
