JUNE 8 – 11, 2015

THE VOCATION OF COMMUNICATION

The institute’s eighth summer focuses on the call to communicate. It offers a vision of leadership that can enrich prayer lives and assist Catholic educational/catechetical leaders in their communication so that they can contribute more effectively to God’s work in the Church and world today.

PRESENTER

Fr. Roy Shelly is a priest of the Diocese of Monterey, California, where he is known as an engaging and inspiring speaker and retreat leader. In addition to his parish and diocesan roles, he has long experience in Catholic education, retreats, youth ministry, and deacon formation.

OUTCOMES

As a result of this year’s Summer Institute for Catholic Educational Leadership, participants will:

- Appreciate their own vocation of communication
- Learn a Catholic spirituality of communication
- Recognize the Bible and Catholic tradition as a resource for their vision of leadership
- Acquire skills needed by leaders to communicate our faith effectively
